

Well, That's a Wrap!

At Lighthouse Publishing, 2025 has been another year of the goodness of God. From the availability of willing staff to the blessing of significant new funding, His faithfulness has been evident.

By the end of December, we expect to have shipped 300,000 magazines for the year. We have seen over 41,000 opens of Loaves & Fishes magazines on PandoApp. Our staff and volunteers have logged many hours handling correspondence, entering data, and packing orders.

In the mailrooms of prisons, in the hands of chaplains and volunteers, and on digital tablets in prison cells, the message contained in Loaves & Fishes magazine has been reaching the hearts and minds of thousands who want to grow and change. Our ministry exists to bring them the truth from God's word that can make this happen.

Now, it is time to deliver our heartfelt thanks. Many of you are bulk distributors of our magazine, some joining us only recently. Without you, our work would be impossible. The often thankless daily work of prison ministry is sometimes the single tangible link that many inmates have to the love of God, who understands the depth of your sacrifice. Please know that you are deeply appreciated.

To our donors, on behalf of all our readers and distributors, please know also that you are a crucial element of Lighthouse Publishing. We could not do our work without your kindness, generosity, and your obvious care for those in prison. Your gifts large and small are meaningful, and we commit to steward these resources to maximum effect for the kingdom of God. May God bless you.

And finally, to those who remember us in your thoughts, prayers, and words of encouragement, it is your valued contribution that gives us the energy and inspiration to create content, manage operations, and process packages. From the bottom of our hearts, thank you.

Reader Feedback

I was enjoying Issue 56, and resonated with “Wreck of Wildfires” by Andrew Crider. Reading the article gave me an optimistic perspective on my pathway in life. Thank you.

Financial Update

The cost of producing the next issue of the magazine is projected to be $35,000, including editing, design, printing, and shipping costs. It is fully funded and is expected to ship on schedule in early March.

Our current funds on hand, including our building fund, are around $190,000. Watch for our 2025 financial and distribution reports in our next newsletter.

Loaves & Fishes Issue 57 has shipped, and was delivered to subscribers in mid-December. We are currently working on producing issue 58 on the theme of Heaven and Hell (see John 5:28, 29). Pray for our editorial team as we explore this topic.

As a reminder to distributors, we stock recent back issues of the magazine. We currently have a large inventory of no-staples magazines. Simply contact us, and we will be happy to supply your needs, as always free of charge.
